Medical Update:

I saw Jerry Cook at Copperfield a couple of weeks ago and he looked to be in very good shape. I asked how he felt and he told me he felt good but was moving slow. The doctors told him to take things slow and hopefully he will be back to his old self soon.

Bowling Schedule Change:

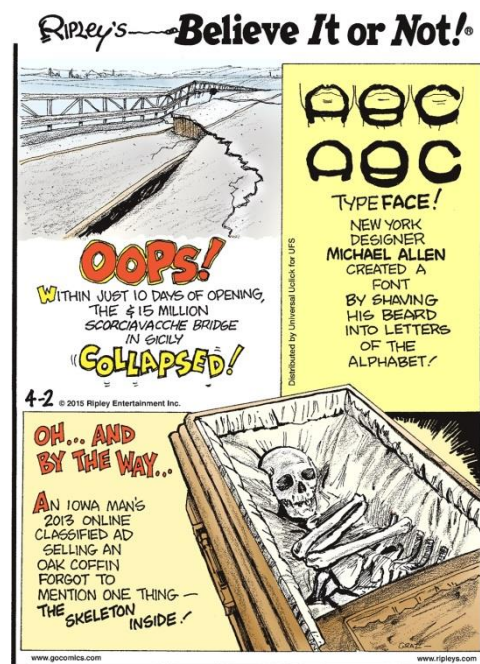

Being that May 10th is Mother's Day, the scheduled gathering on that day at Copperfield has been rescheduled for May 3rd.

Trivia Answer:

Olive Oil

Tournament Note:

It was brought to our attention that Dallas has a scheduling conflict in August and because of that, the tournament will be held the 2nd weekend in August (Aug 7, 8, 9). The forms that I sent were for informational purposes only. Tournament information needs to be filled out on multi-part forms which will be available at the gathering.

FUNNY AND INTERESTING FACTS

JOKE OF THE MONTH

An Amish boy and his father were in a mall. They were amazed by almost everything they saw, but especially by two shiny, silver walls that could move apart and then slide back together again. The boy asked, "What is this, Father?" The father (never having seen an elevator) responded, "Son, I have never seen anything like this in my life, I don't know what it is." While the boy and his father were watching with amazement, a fat, ugly old lady moved up to the moving walls and pressed a button. The walls opened, and the lady walked between them into a small room. The walls closed, and the boy and his father watched the small numbers above the walls light up sequentially. They continued to watch until it reached the last number, and then the numbers began to light in the reverse order. Finally the walls opened up again and a gorgeous 24-year-old blond stepped out. The father, not taking his eyes off the young woman, said quietly to his son, "Go get your mother."

A man in Ijsselstein, Holland, arranged to descend by crane into his girlfriend's garden and serenade her before popping the Big Question. The crane fell over. He jumped. When people attempted to put the crane back on its wheels, it fell again. A neighbor's roof was bashed in — "the people in the house the crane fell on are deeply shocked," said Jelle Mulder of emergency services — and authorities may order the house destroyed. Be that as it may, the man proceeded with his question and, finally, something went as he wanted. The newly engaged couple, after getting a green light from police, left on vacation.

MORON!!

(Provided by This Is True)

A man called police in Hoover, Ala., to report a woman driving erratically. The caller also alleged that she was smoking crack cocaine — and had a child in the car. Officers located the car in a parking lot, and when one of them approached the vehicle, he saw Bari Williams, 44, allegedly with a crack pipe in her hand. When Williams rolled down the window, the officer said the "smell of burnt crack cocaine was overwhelming." Williams got out of the car, saying she was a social worker and the pipe was her husband's, but eventually allegedly confessed to smoking the crack herself. Williams was arrested, and the 5-year-old girl in the vehicle was taken into protective custody. Further investigation determined that Williams is indeed a social worker — she's a case manager at a substance abuse treatment center.

Supervisors at the Department for Work and Pensions in Carlisle, England, issued a directive in March (2010) to short-handed staff on how to ease their telephone workload during the busy mid-day period. Workers were told to pick up the ringing phone, recite a message while mimicking an answering machine ("Due to the high volume of inquiries we are currently experiencing, we are unable to take your call. Please call back later.") and immediately hang up. [News & Star (Carlisle), 3-9-2010]
